I am concerned that you have not given sufficient consideration to the profound impact of your proposed 23-story high rise development on the corner of Bissonnet and Ashby. Building a 23 story tower in the midst of an established single family residential neighborhood will wipe out millions of dollars of residential property values and irrevocably degrade the neighborhood to which you claim to be sensitive.

While most of us in the area would agree that there may be a higher and better use of the Maryland Manor land, a 23-story tower located at the intersection of two-lane streets is not it. Your proposed project belongs on a major thoroughfare where it will not loom over a single family residential neighborhood.

As you know from your many years in Houston, Boulevard Oaks and Southampton have long been recognized as one of Houston's, and our nation's, treasured and most beautiful residential areas. Your project is an affront to that heritage. To build it would be a shame on Houston, a shame on our neighborhood, and a shame on you.

I would certainly not want my legacy to Houston, to my children, and to my neighbors to be such an inappropriate development. I hope that you will reconsider your project.
